Nobel Laureate visits Neuroscience Center

Dr. Susumu Tonegawa, 1987 Nobel Laureate in Physiology or Medicine, was the Keynote Speaker for the Chancellor's Award Lecture at the 20th Annual Retreat of the LSU Neuroscience Center of Excellence held a few days ago.

Dr. Tonegawa with Dr. Alberto Musto and Justin Hayes

More than 150 participants were in attendance at the retreat. The retreat provided a forum for scientific exchange through presentations and interaction. Faculty, post-docs and research associates had the opportunity to discuss their work with Dr. Tonegawa and benefit from his experience and guidance.

Fore a good cause

The 8th Annual LSUHSC School of Dentistry Golf Classic raised funds for the Campus Federal Credit Union's Brian Ainsworth and Parker Wilder with dental alumni Drs. James Pope and Brian Dyess

Student Development Fund. It supports externships for dental students in under-served areas and travel to present their research findings at national and international conferences.

LSUHSC hosts 4th Annual Science Partnership Field Trip

About 70 fourth graders and teachers from Benjamin Banneker and John Dibert Elementary schools visited the Health Sciences Center on Monday. The event is an important part of the LSU Health

Dr. Paula Gregory & students

Dr. Ted Weyand and students

Sciences Center-New Orleans Public School Science Partnership Program. Demonstrations included seeing and touching human organs, extracting DNA from strawberries and learning about lung function.

Dr. John Zamjahn with students

The rest of the year, our graduate students help teach science in New Orleans Public School classrooms. This Partnership has not only had a significant impact on LEAP Test scores in Science, but in Math and English as well.
